DETAILED ACTION

1. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claim is incomplete. The polymer used is for retention and the claim should so state.

2. Claims 2-8,10-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

3. Claims 17-21 are allowed.

4. Claim 22 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Smith et al (5,221,435) in view of Braitberg (3,234,075) or Bugosh (2,917,426).

The claim is rejected for the reasons given in the Office Action, Paper No. 7.

5. Claim 23 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Smith et al (5,221,435) in view of Braitberg (3,234,075) or Bugosh (2,917,426) as applied to claim 22 above, and further in view of Sippel (WO 97/41063).

The claim is rejected for the reason given in the Office Action, Paper No. 7.

6. While the addition of the cationic fibrous colloidal alumina microparticles prior to the addition of the retention polymer to the pulp stock patentably distinguishes the method from the prior art, the final product is not patentably distinguishable since the final product contains the retention polymer and cationic alumina microparticle.
